The Yen Hui () (lit.Q: Nodejs + NPM library does not work on Heroku I have a nodejs + pm2 + worker node app. (Basically, I'm trying to use PM2 to handle crons without investing too much time on nodejs). I built a "buy stuff" web app on top of what I've built and it works fine locally, and now want to host it on Heroku (using Heroku's free dyno), but it does not work as expected. My problem: most of my S3 images (that are used in placeholders) are not being called in the Javascript code. Heroku logs (when I force them to) shows that when I make an HTTP request that contains 'images' as a key, the server get the request, but it does not make any call to retrieve those images from S3. The only place in the app where I 'load' the image is in a const. Also, the hostname/path is different between Heroku and local (hosting on my laptop). Anyway, here are the steps I made on Heroku to make it work: Added config.json file on Heroku and changed applicationUrl to Added an app.js file (this one is a stock nginx-nodejs app) In app.js file, added: var isProd = process.env.NODE_ENV === 'production'; if (isProd) { 0cc13bf012
